Prologue

Venturing across the bridge to our destiny, the future glows brilliantly over the horizon. Each step taken brings us closer to the other side and to a new life as adults. Bridging the gap toward the completion of our transformation, we are ready to take our place in society.

Having been led to this inevitable crossroad, we cannot help but pause and reflect on our preceding steps. We shall hold forever dear in our hearts these last few fleeting moments spent in reminiscence and remembrance of our high school years. The goals achieved, the knowledge gained, and the disappointments endured, have been our sustenance. Now we must gather our strength and go forward to meet the challenges facing us.

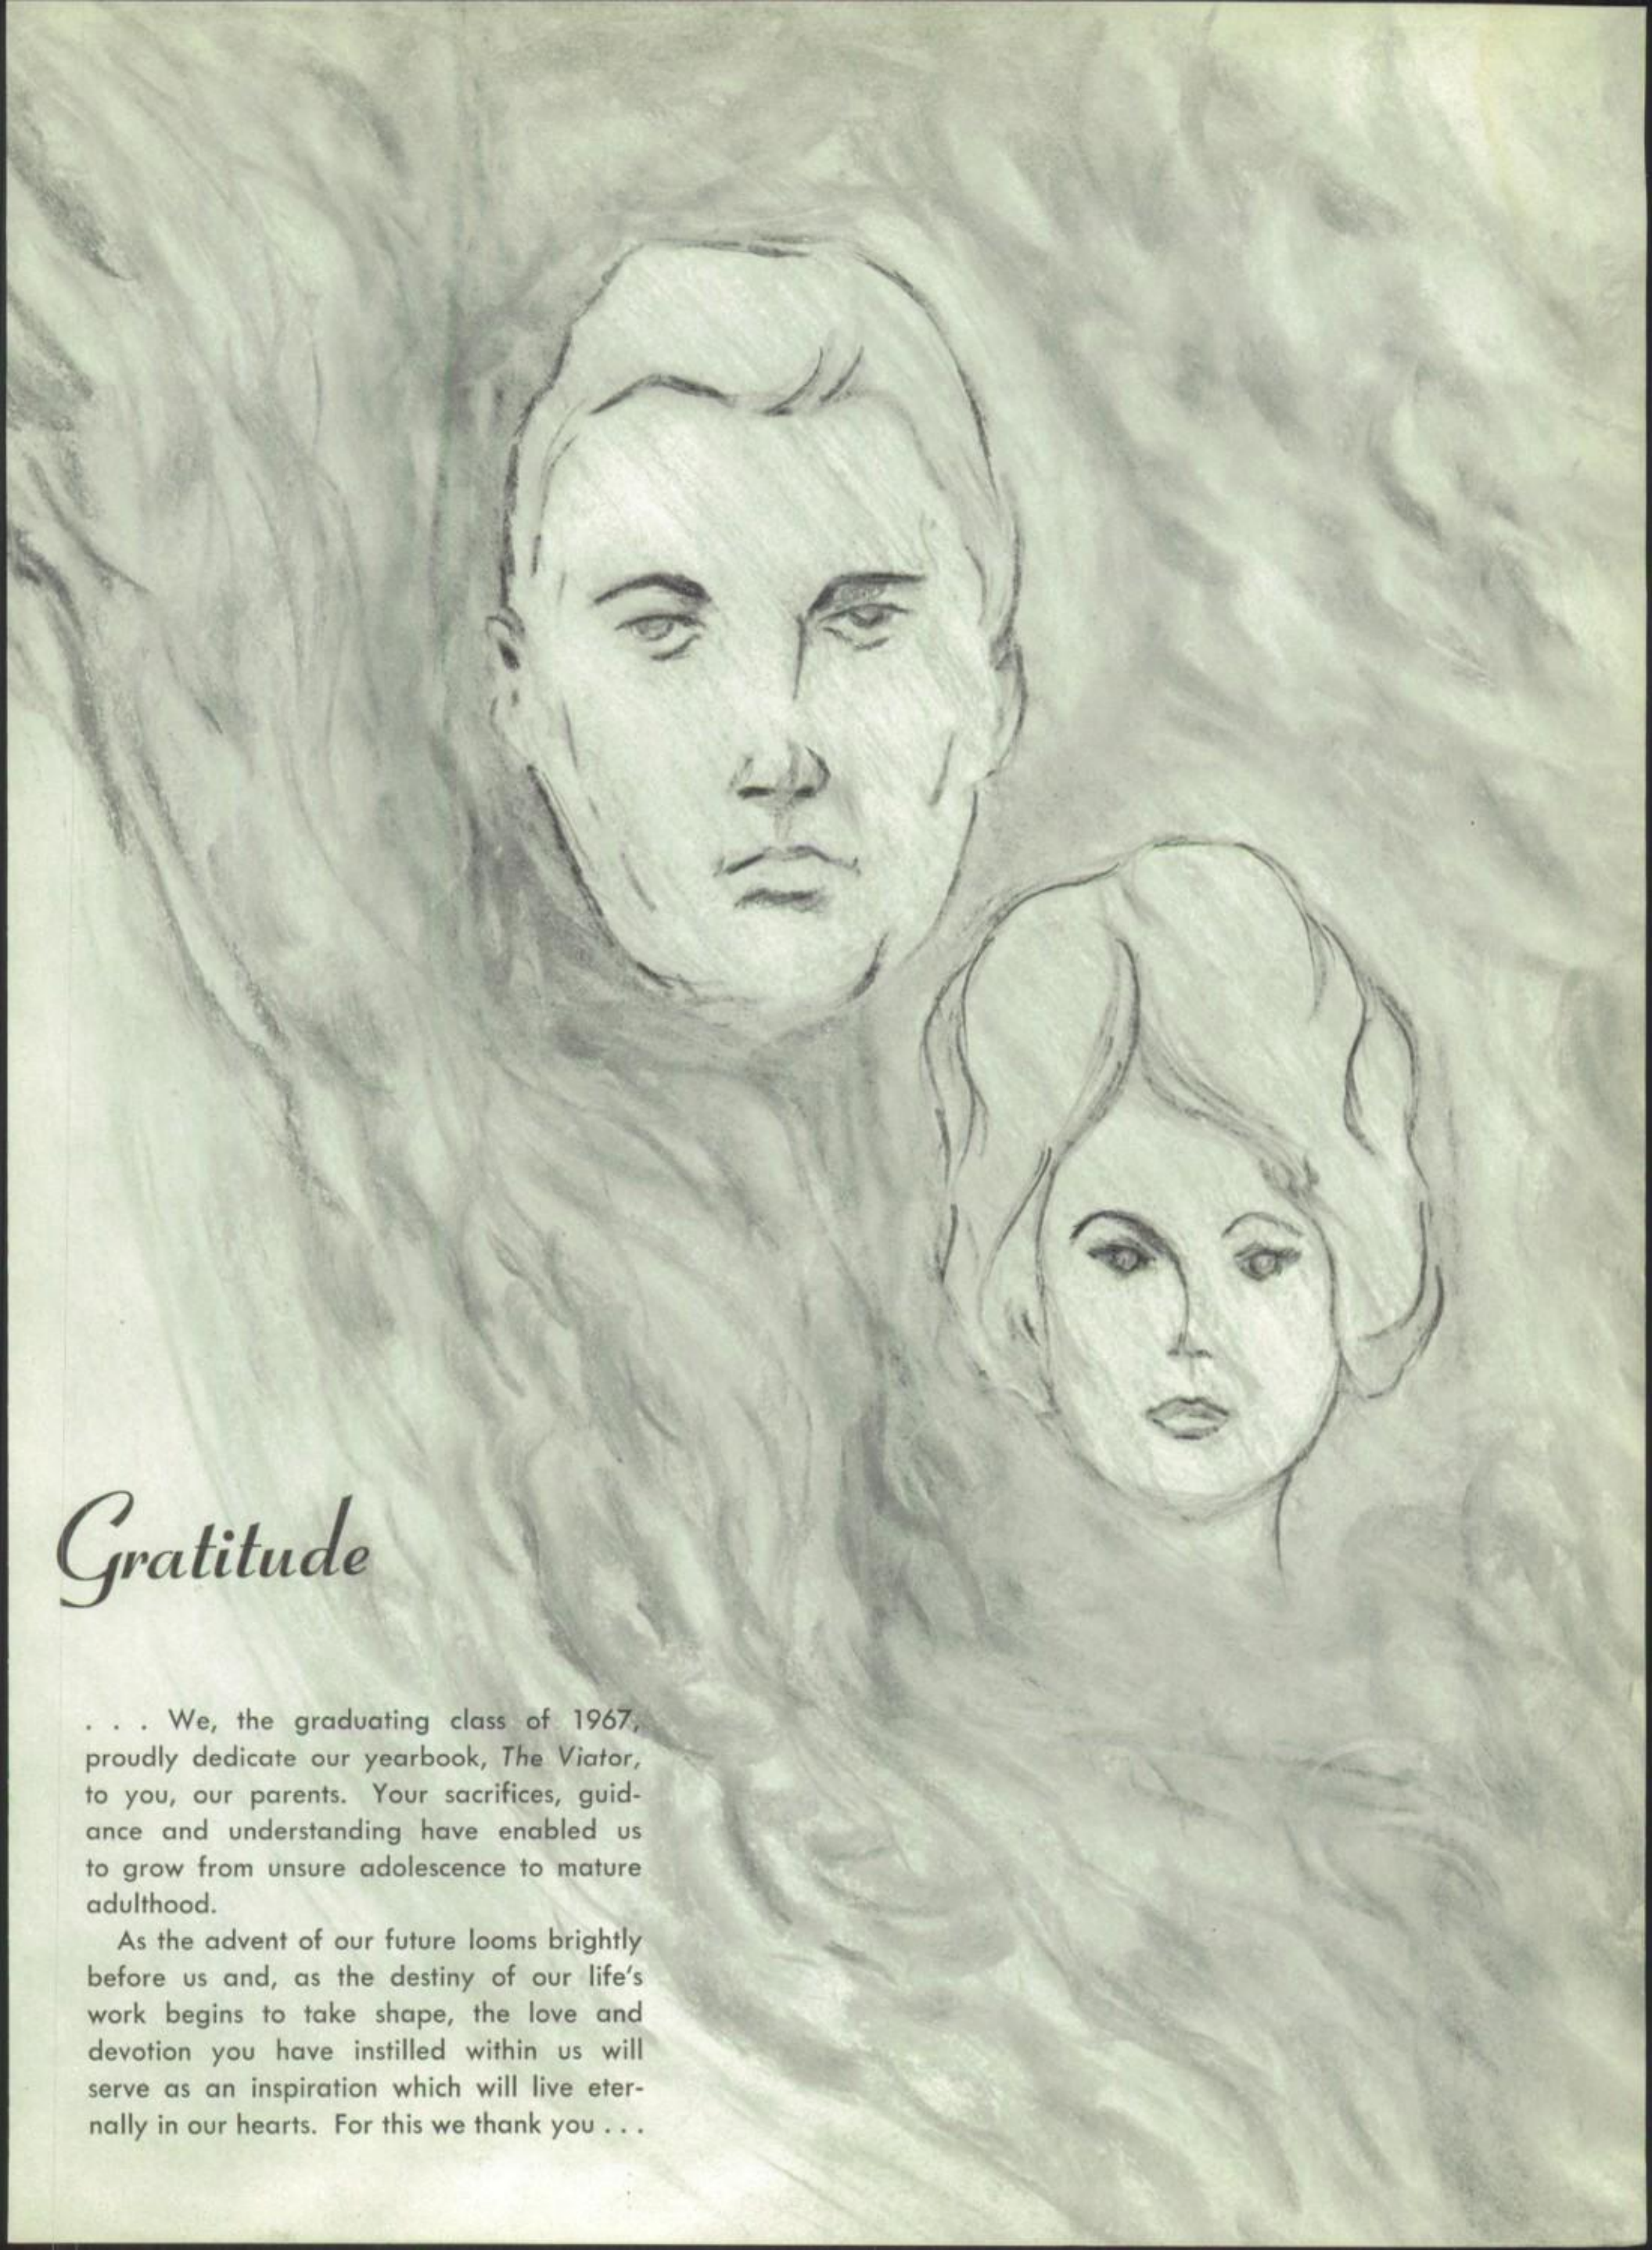
In Deep

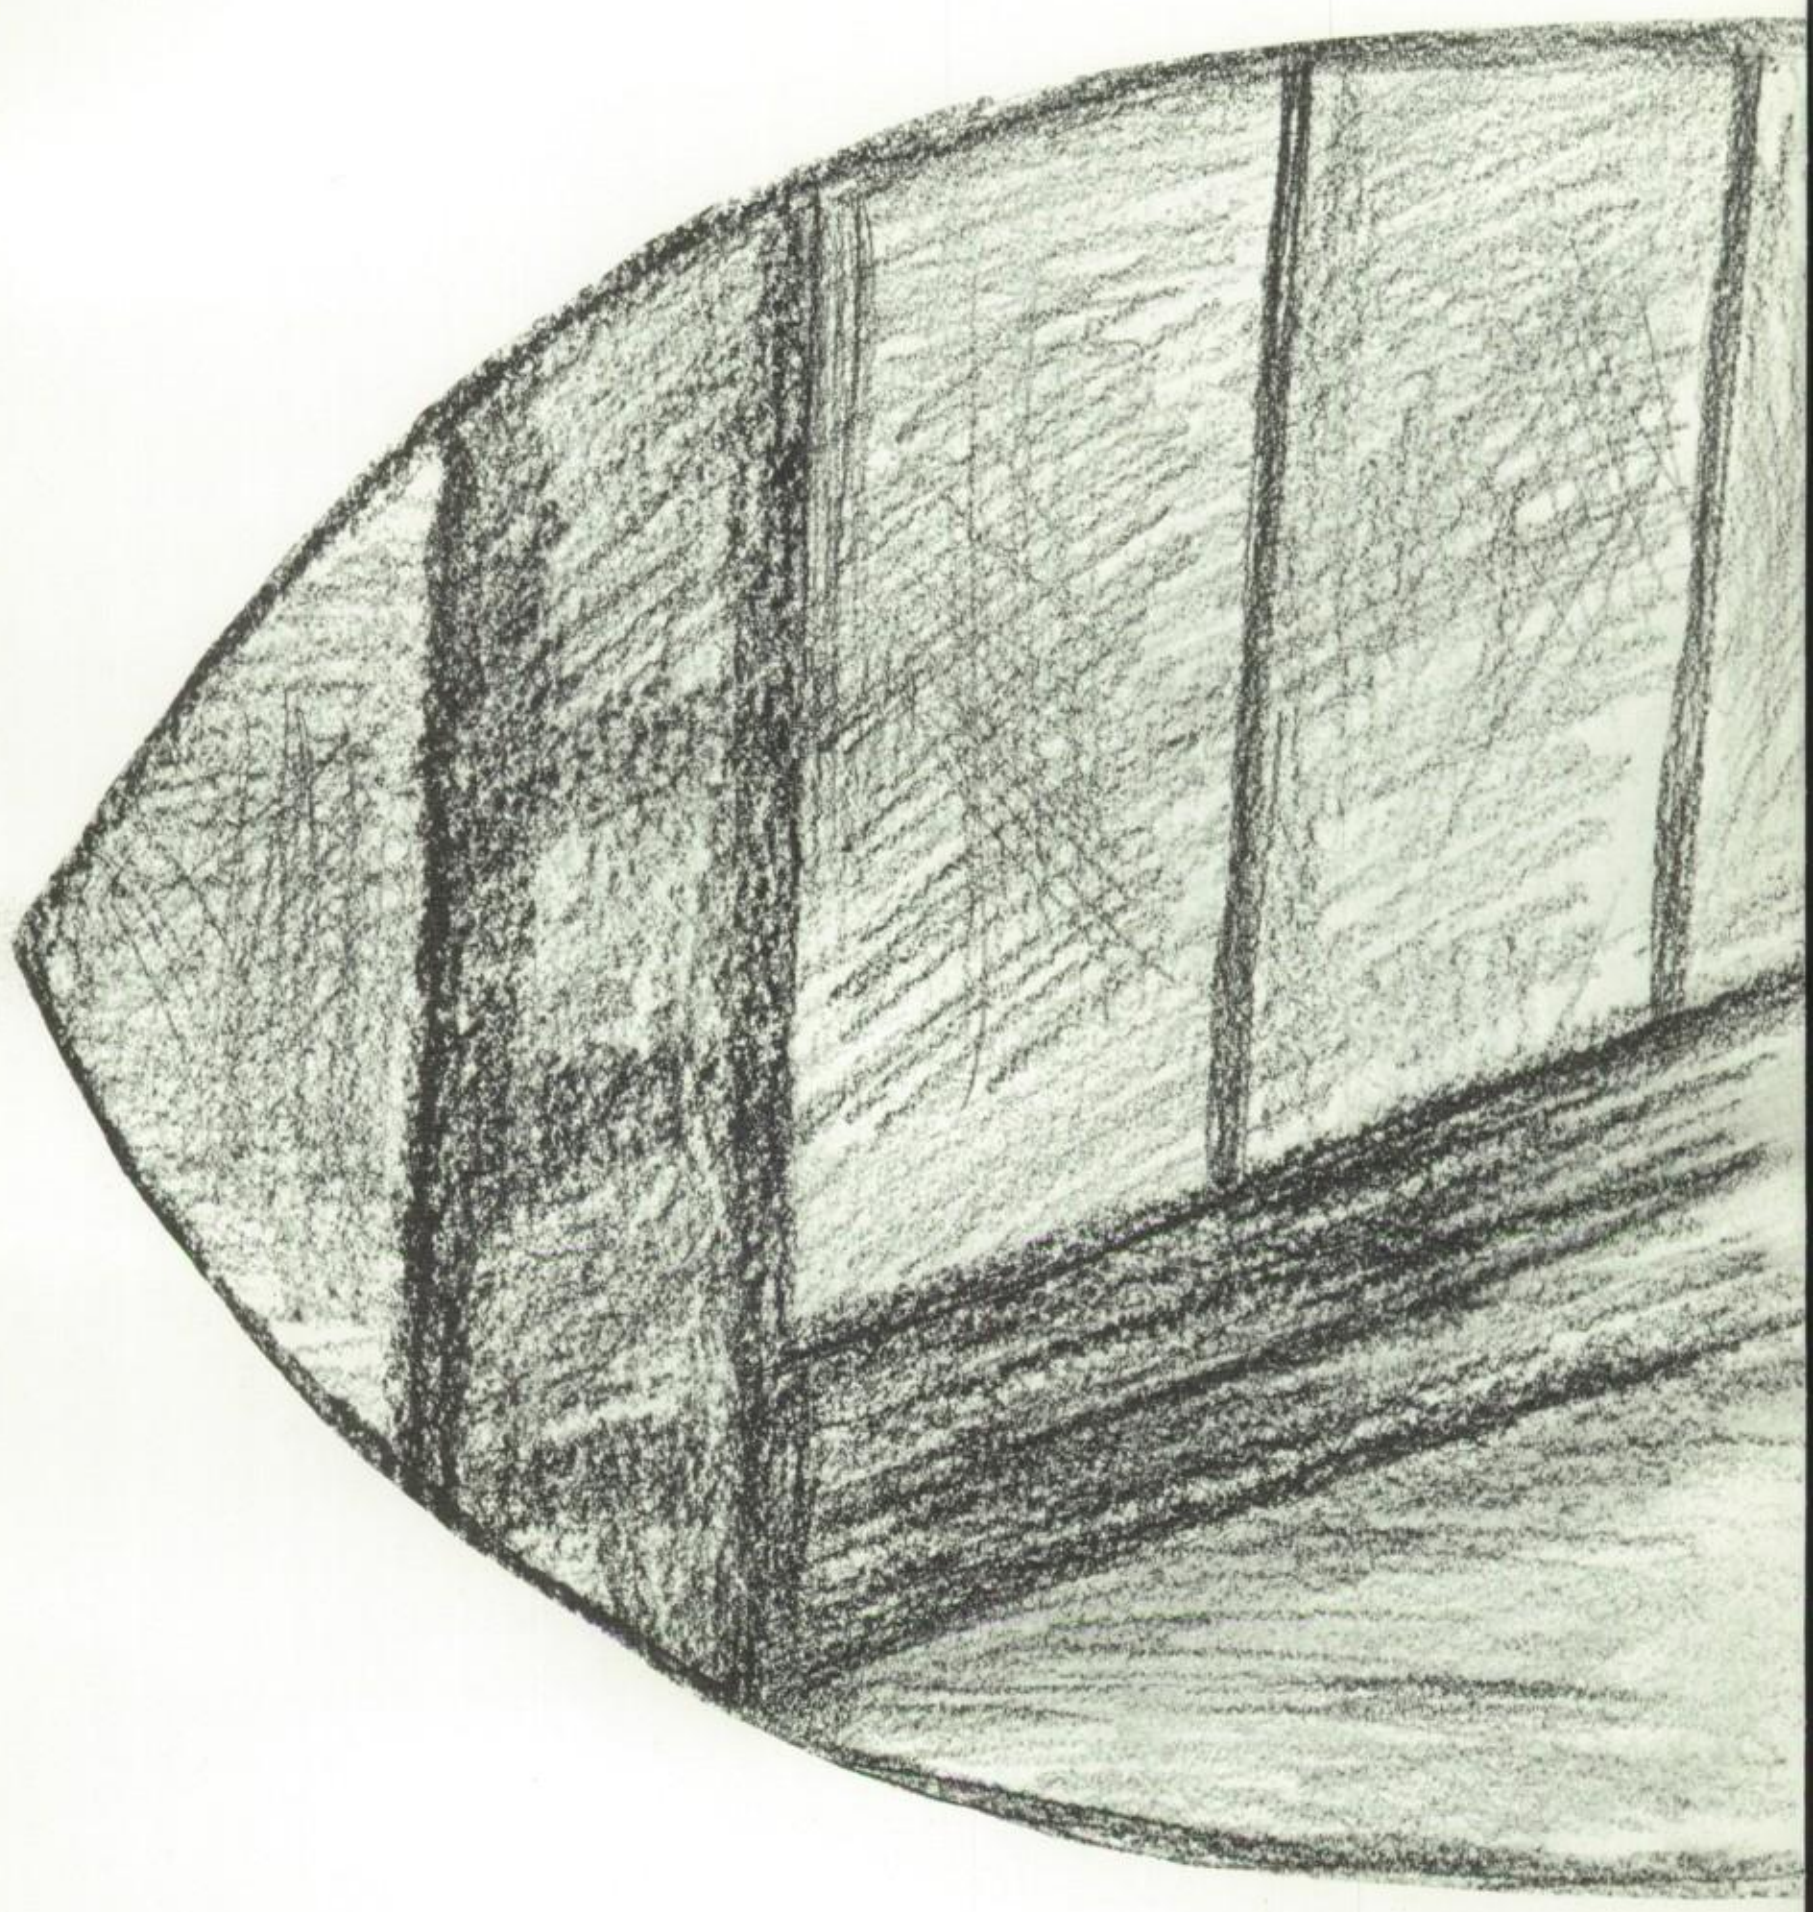


Gratitude

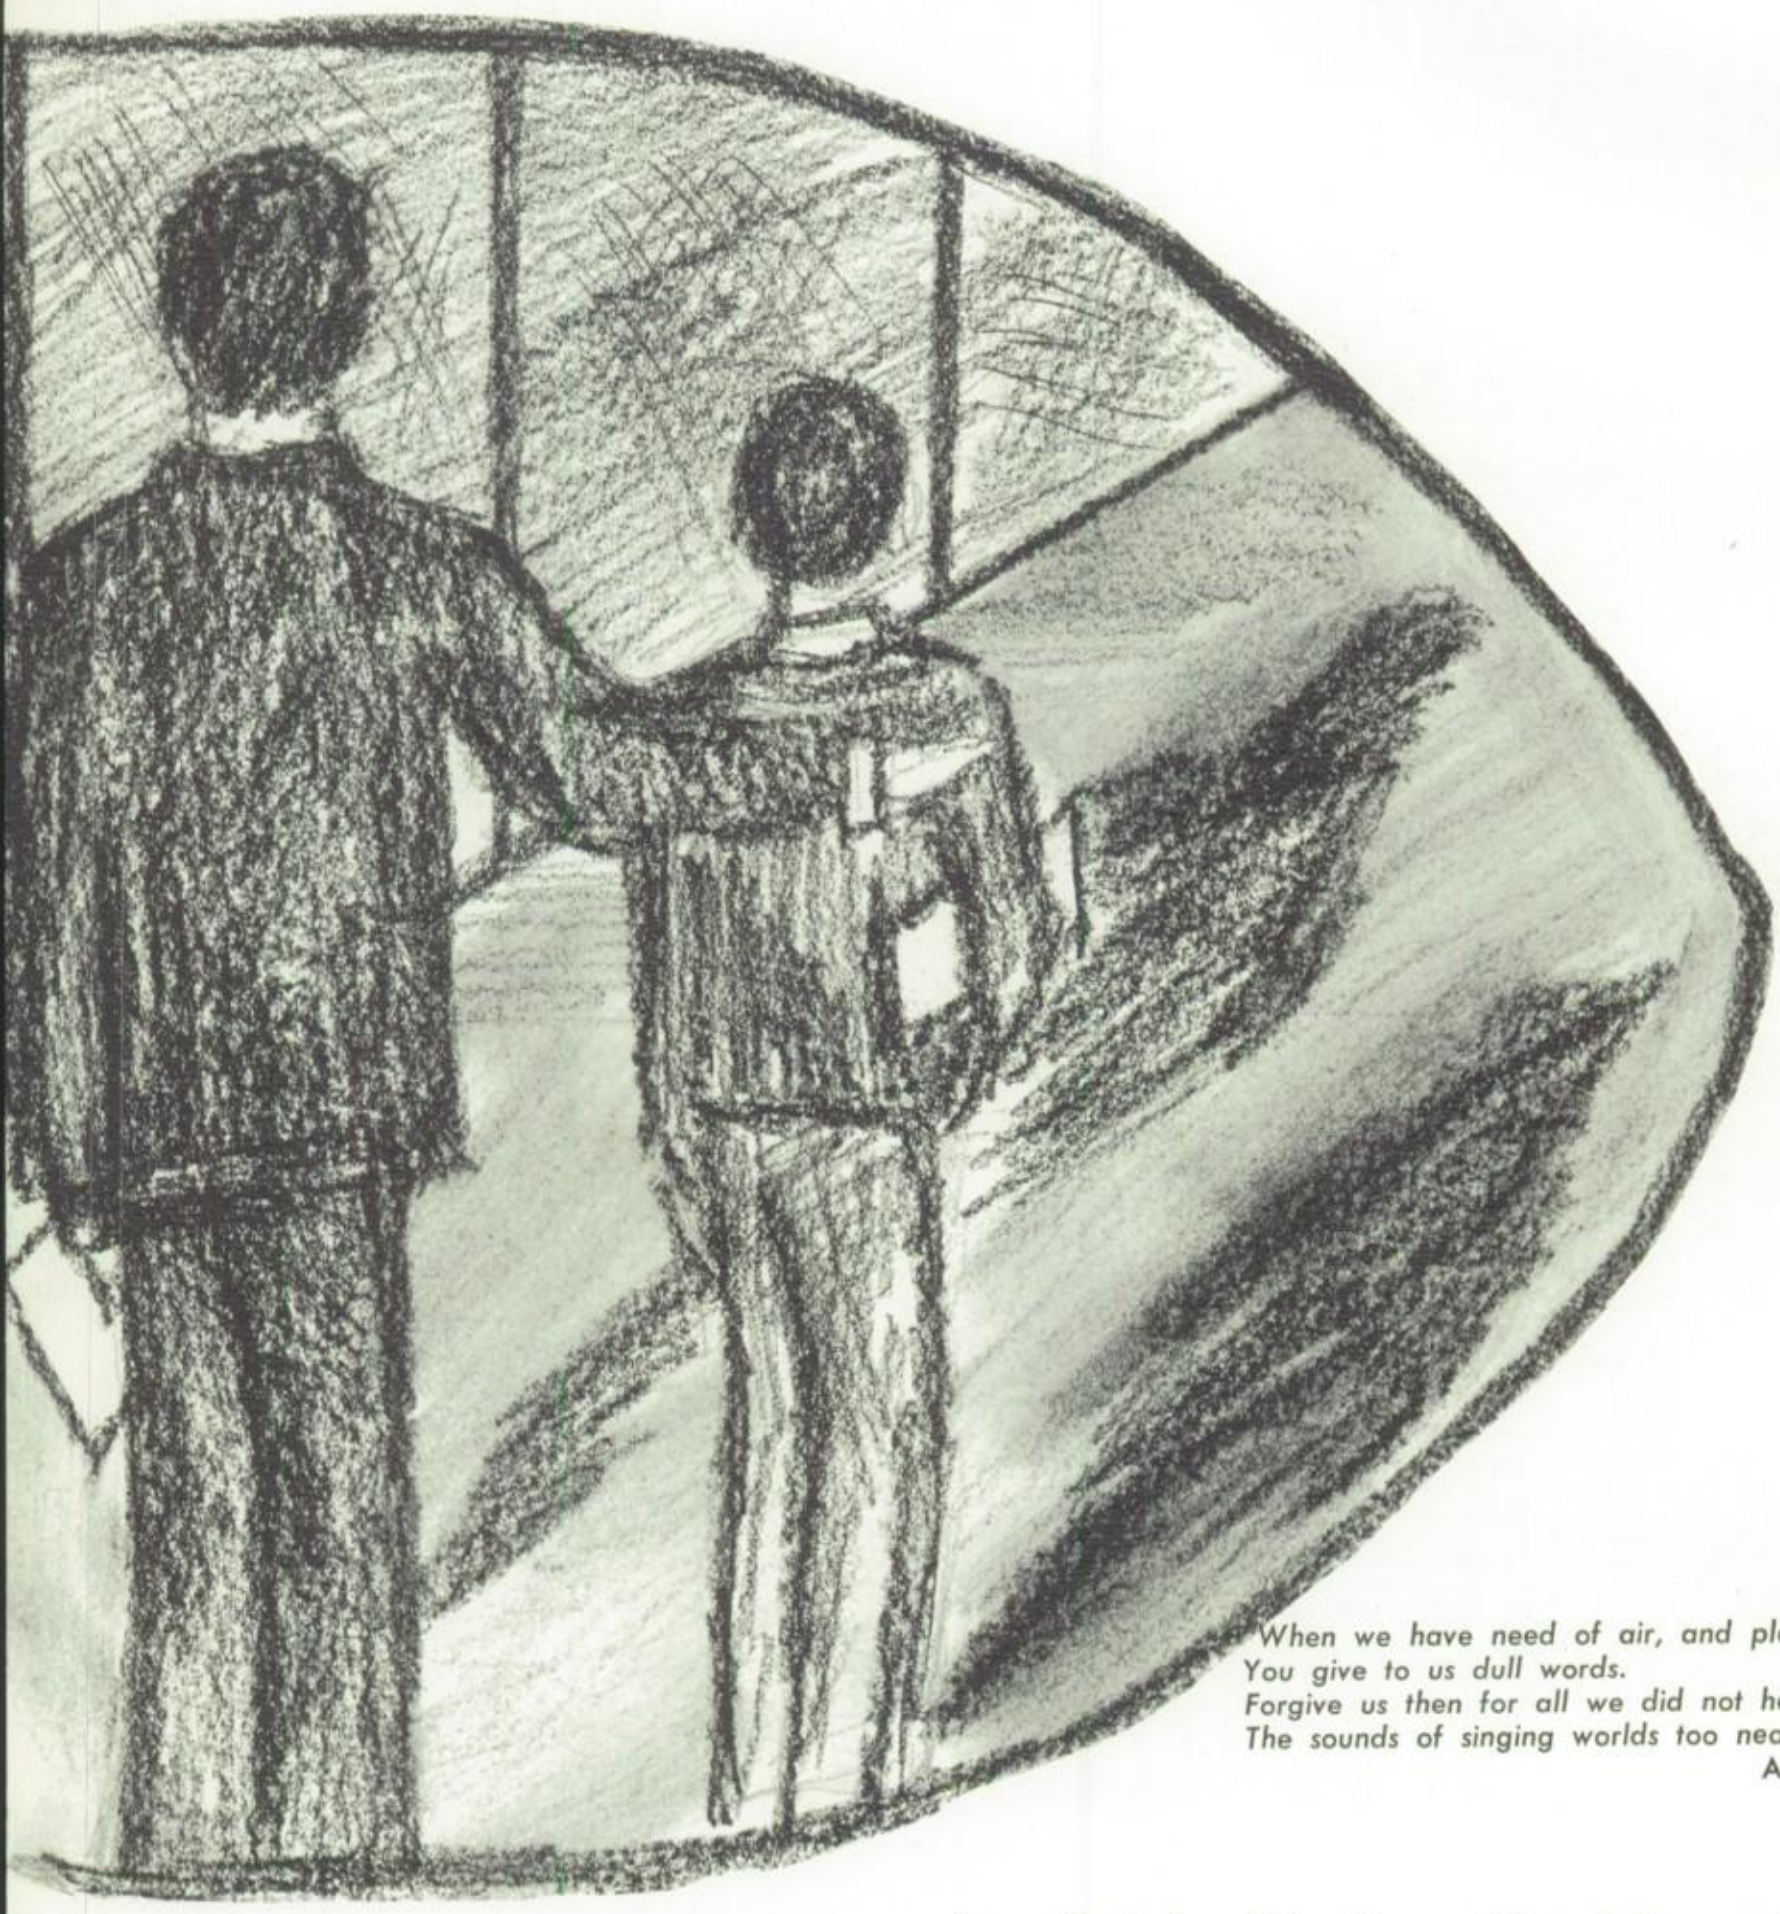
. . . We, the graduating class of 1967, proudly dedicate our yearbook, The Viator, to you, our parents. Your sacrifices, guidance and understanding have enabled us to grow from unsure adolescence to mature adulthood.

As the advent of our future looms brightly before us and, as the destiny of our life's work begins to take shape, the love and devotion you have instilled within us will serve as an inspiration which will live eternally in our hearts. For this we thank you . . .

Administration



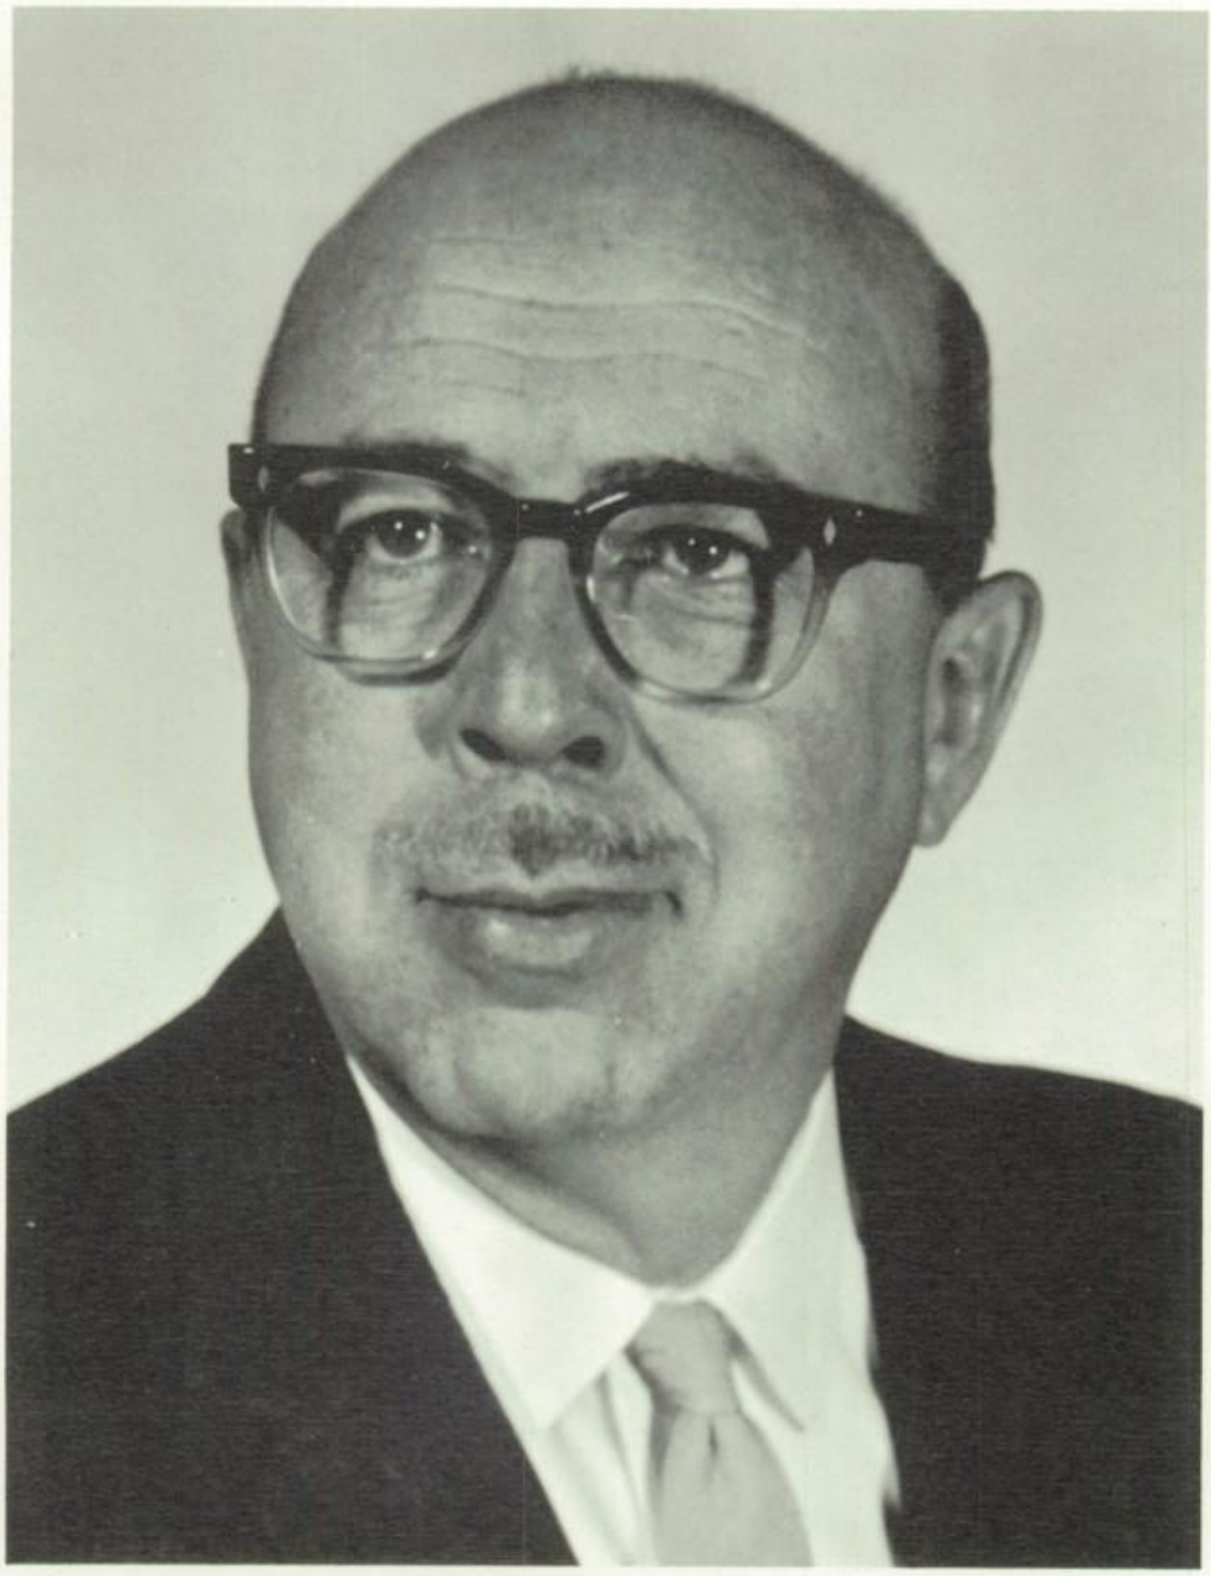
and Faculty



When we have need of air, and plain, and hill,
You give to us dull words.
Forgive us then for all we did not hear,
The sounds of singing worlds too near."
Amy Geliebter

In gratitude for all the time and knowledge you have given to us, we devote this portion of our yearbook to you, the Administration and Faculty. Through your efforts and constant attention, we have been able to make the transition from student to adult citizen. Now the generating influence of your guidance shall be realized. What we didn't believe before, we now know; you have tried and we will succeed.

Superintendent of Schools



Dr. Edward L. Fandt

My sincere congratulations to the members of the Class of 1967 as you culminate one phase of your life and move forward to assume your role in the adult world. I trust that, under the guidance of your parents and educators over the years, you have developed the necessary moral and spiritual values, the sense of responsibility and the necessary educational skills to enable you to become worthy and productive citizens in the challenging world that lies ahead.

Best wishes!

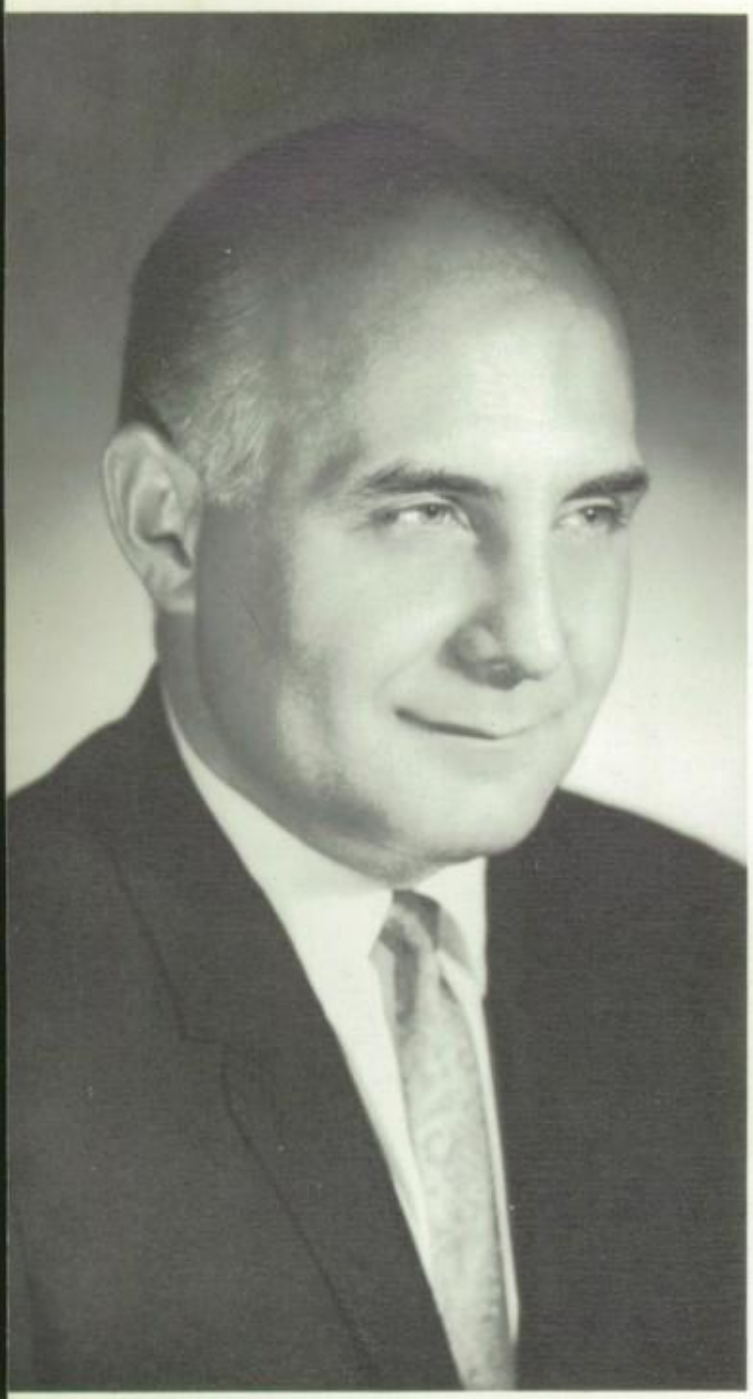
A typical Board meeting finds members of East Paterson's community in attendance.



Vito A. Farese

Principal

Dear Members of the Class of 1967:

There has never been an age that did not applaud the past and lament the present. Pervading all ages has been the illusion that times that were were better than times that are.

However, history has also indicated that in the long panorama of progress through the ages, the transition has always been upward. The way has not been smooth or straight; it has been broken periodically by failures or crushing setbacks. But always out of every great struggle has come a new dawn, a rebirth of life or spirit, the powerful surge of progress carrying man forward and upward again. Like the Phoenix, man has been able to rise from his ashes to realize greater accomplishments and approach brighter horizons.

Through each transition, through each period of time, the ever-recurring theme in history or human experience has been that no time is as bad as it seems. Despite all of today's tribulations, the inspiring words of Emerson are as true now as they ever were:

This time, like all other times, is a very good one,
if we know what to do with it.

The frontiers are never closed; the limits of opportunity and progress are never reached. The future will be what we ourselves make of it.

As you make this transition from Memorial to face the problems of the broader world, there is much that I would prophesy for you. There are many words of advice that I might suggest. Of them all none seems more meaningful to me than those penned by a venerated American educator, Horace Mann, who counseled:

Be ashamed to die until you have won some victory for humanity.

May I advise you to think carefully of these words. In your own way and in your own time you will be afforded the opportunity to improve the lot of mankind. As true Crusaders, you shall not fail.

To each of you go my sincerest wishes for a happy, healthy, prosperous and meaningful future — a future that will always make the present the best of all possible times.

To the Class of 1967:

We all face an unsettled, uncertain world. The part each of you may play in reshaping the future course of our nation's destiny, can in part, be measured by the education you bring to the task. Graduation from high school and the experiences gained prior to this milestone in your life, plus all future experiences will help you to better understand the needs of others and, hopefully, assist them along with yourself in attaining desirable goals.

My best wishes go with you for a healthy, happy and prosperous future.

Arthur Hardy
Vice-Principal

Gerald Reilly

Education begins with the workable hypothesis that movement and change are basic to its structure. If there is one aspect of education that is constant it is transition. Students in the educative process move from plateau to plateau, from horizon to horizon. It is the hope of all educators that this upward spiral tends always in the direction of wisdom. Each successive generation of students gives its own shape and form to the constant aspirations that make up education.

"What should be taught" has now been replaced by "what is the purpose" of a particular discipline. This reflects the basic tendency on the part of man to move from the area of specialized skills to that of general understanding. The search for certainty leads us to the quest of moral principles and meaningful activity related to the very nature of man. The ultimate transition for man, and indeed for education, is to arrive at self-knowledge.

For the present graduating class, the final transition from Memorial High School is here. The good wishes of the faculty and the administration go with you.

Fellow Classmates:

The time will soon be here when we don our caps and gowns, file into line, and begin the processional march of our graduation. This event will commemorate our last high school activity as an entire body. At this time, each of us will experience different emotions, but most of us will share the nostalgic memories of times we have enjoyed.

Graduation Day, however, will signify something more than past memories. Closing one door, will open another. At graduation we will stand at the threshold of the future.

For many of us, graduation will mean going to college, or, in some way, furthering our formal education. Others will immediately assume the responsibilities of employment. Yet, despite the differences, we will all be working toward the same basic goal — trying to achieve recognition and respect in society.

What occurs in the world of tomorrow will depend on us, the young men and women of the Class of 1967. May the experiences we have shared at East Paterson Memorial High School—educational, cultural, and social—be remembered as happy memories of the past and as educational keys to the future.

Underclassmen

"And Deering's Woods are fresh and fair,
And my joy that is almost pain
My heart goes back to wander there,
And among the dreams of the days that were . . ."
Henry Wadsworth Longfellow

One yearns to turn back the clock to the carefree days when senior year seemed a million years away. The times we spent as underclassmen are ones that will live forever in our hearts; they are the foundation of many pleasant memories. Now, as seniors, we pass this heritage to the underclassmen who will, in turn, take their place in the history of our school.

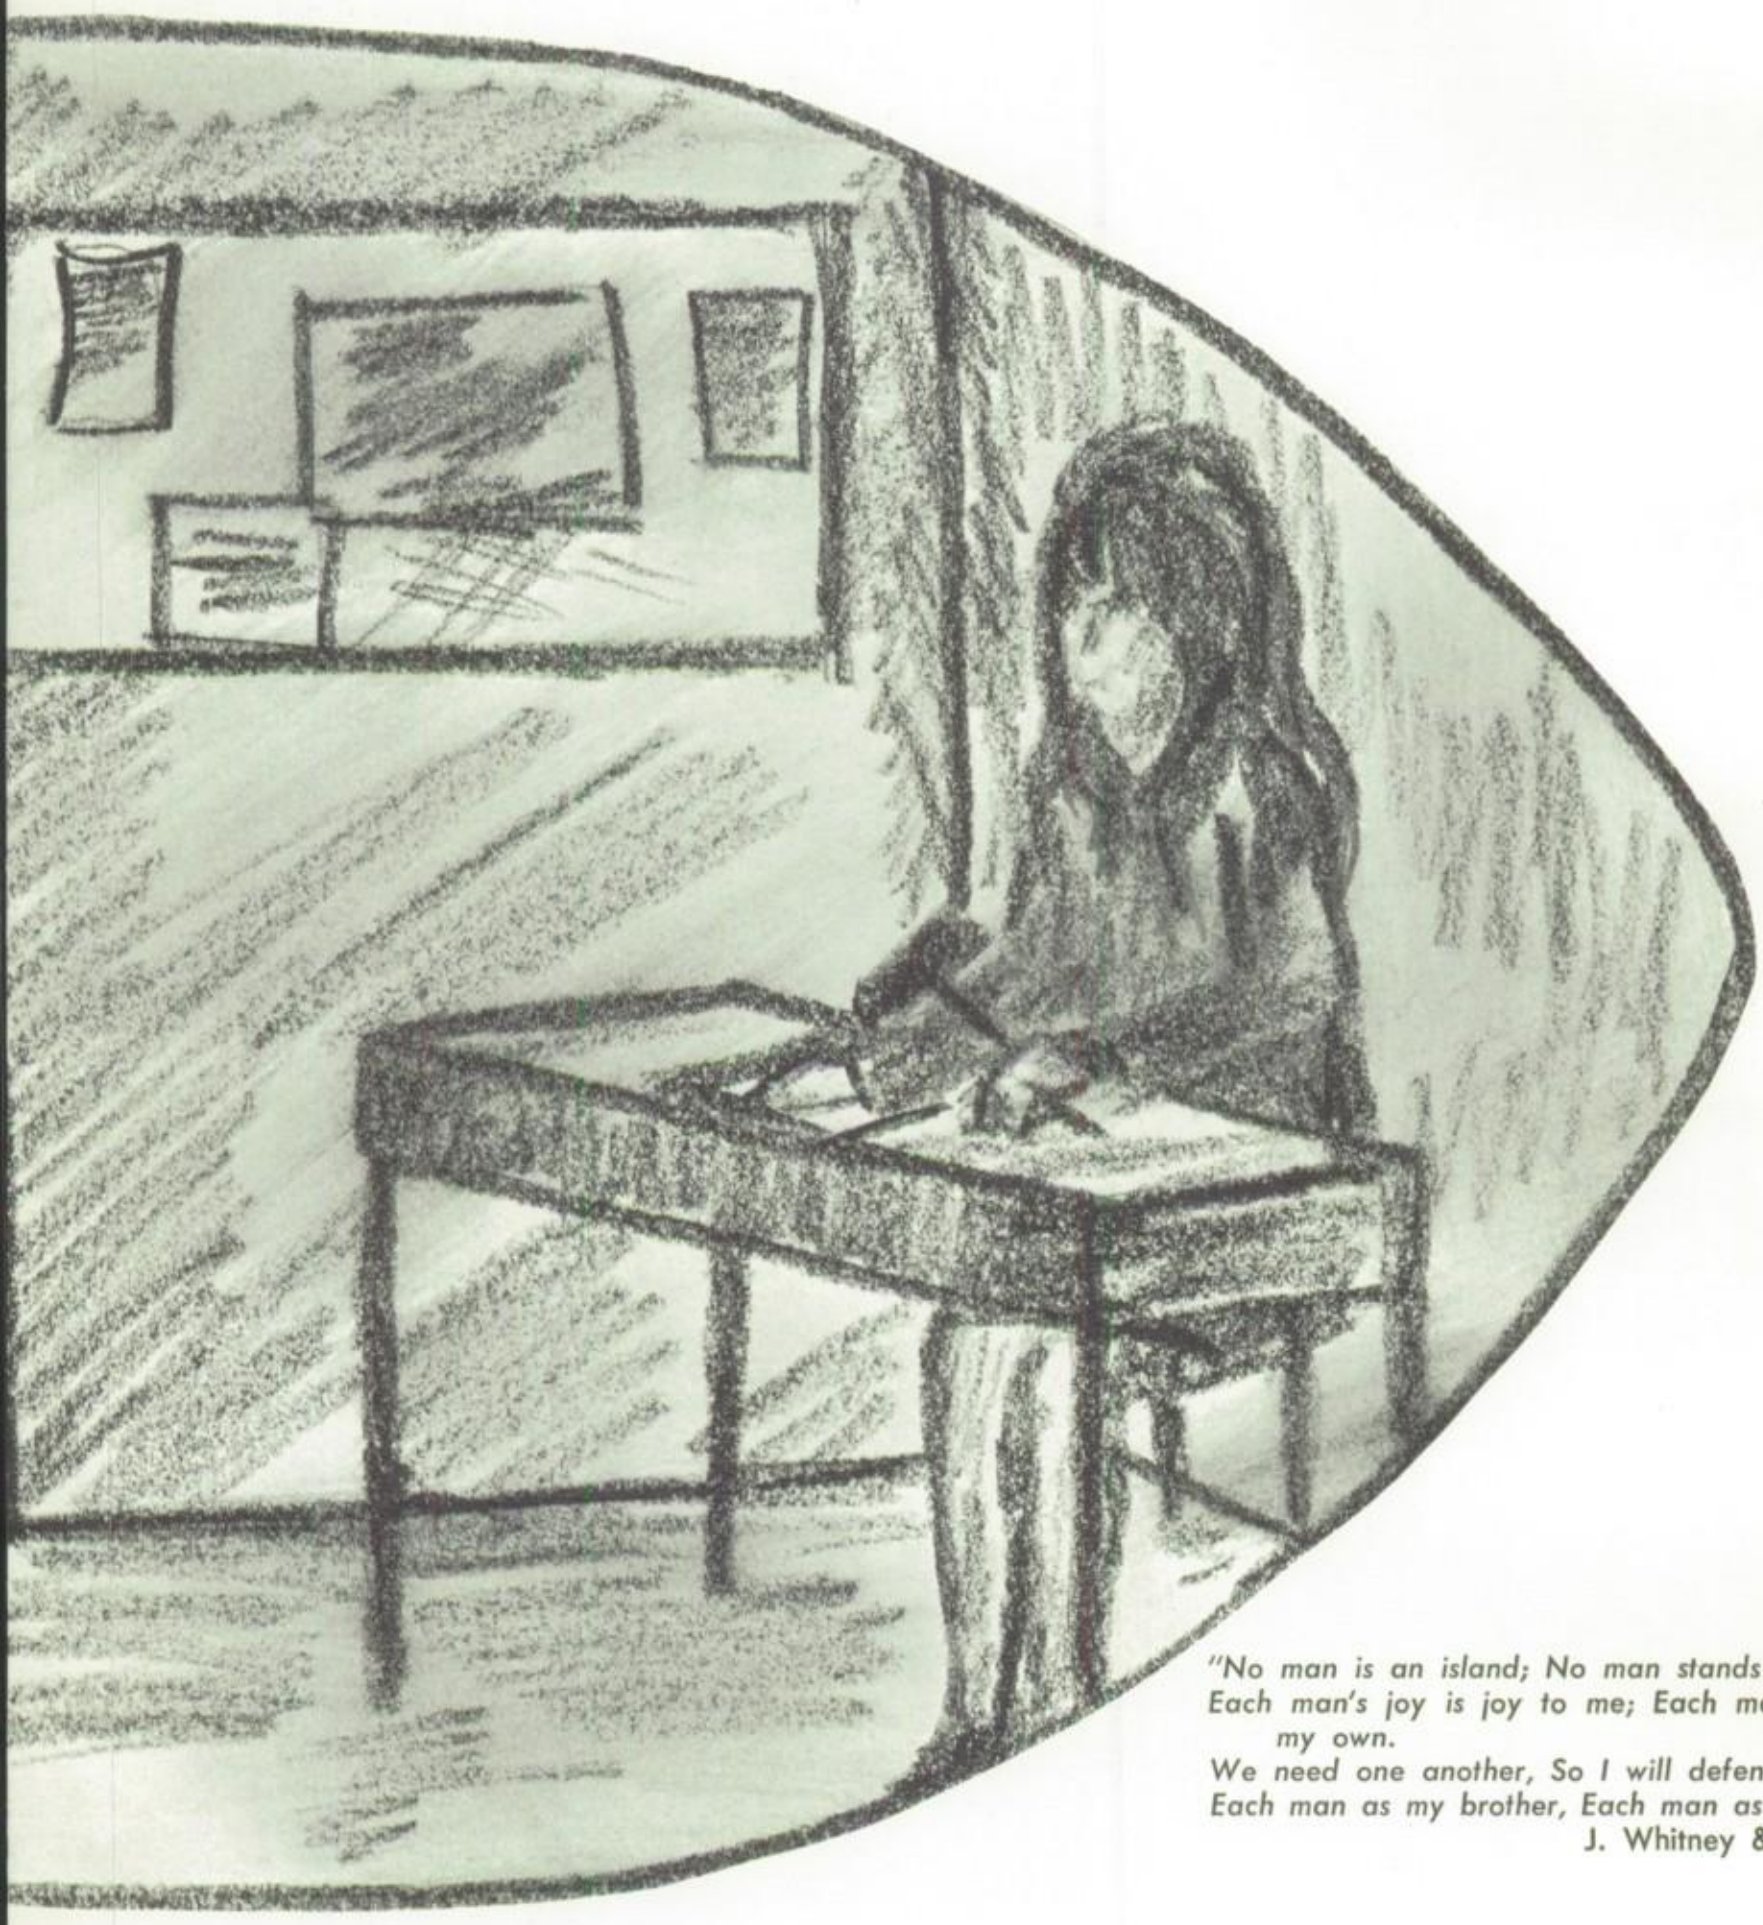
Organizations



"No man is an island; No man stands alone
Each man's joy is joy to me; Each man's grief is my own.
We need one another, So I will defend
Each man as my brother, Each man as my friend."
J. Whitney & A. Kramer

The friendships made in clubs and activities provide for each one of us a personal value. They have accorded many enjoyable moments which will strengthen our memories. May we then remember and adopt this maxim: Humanity is an organization in which we are all committed members for life. Through our past, may our future become the finished fraternity for all.

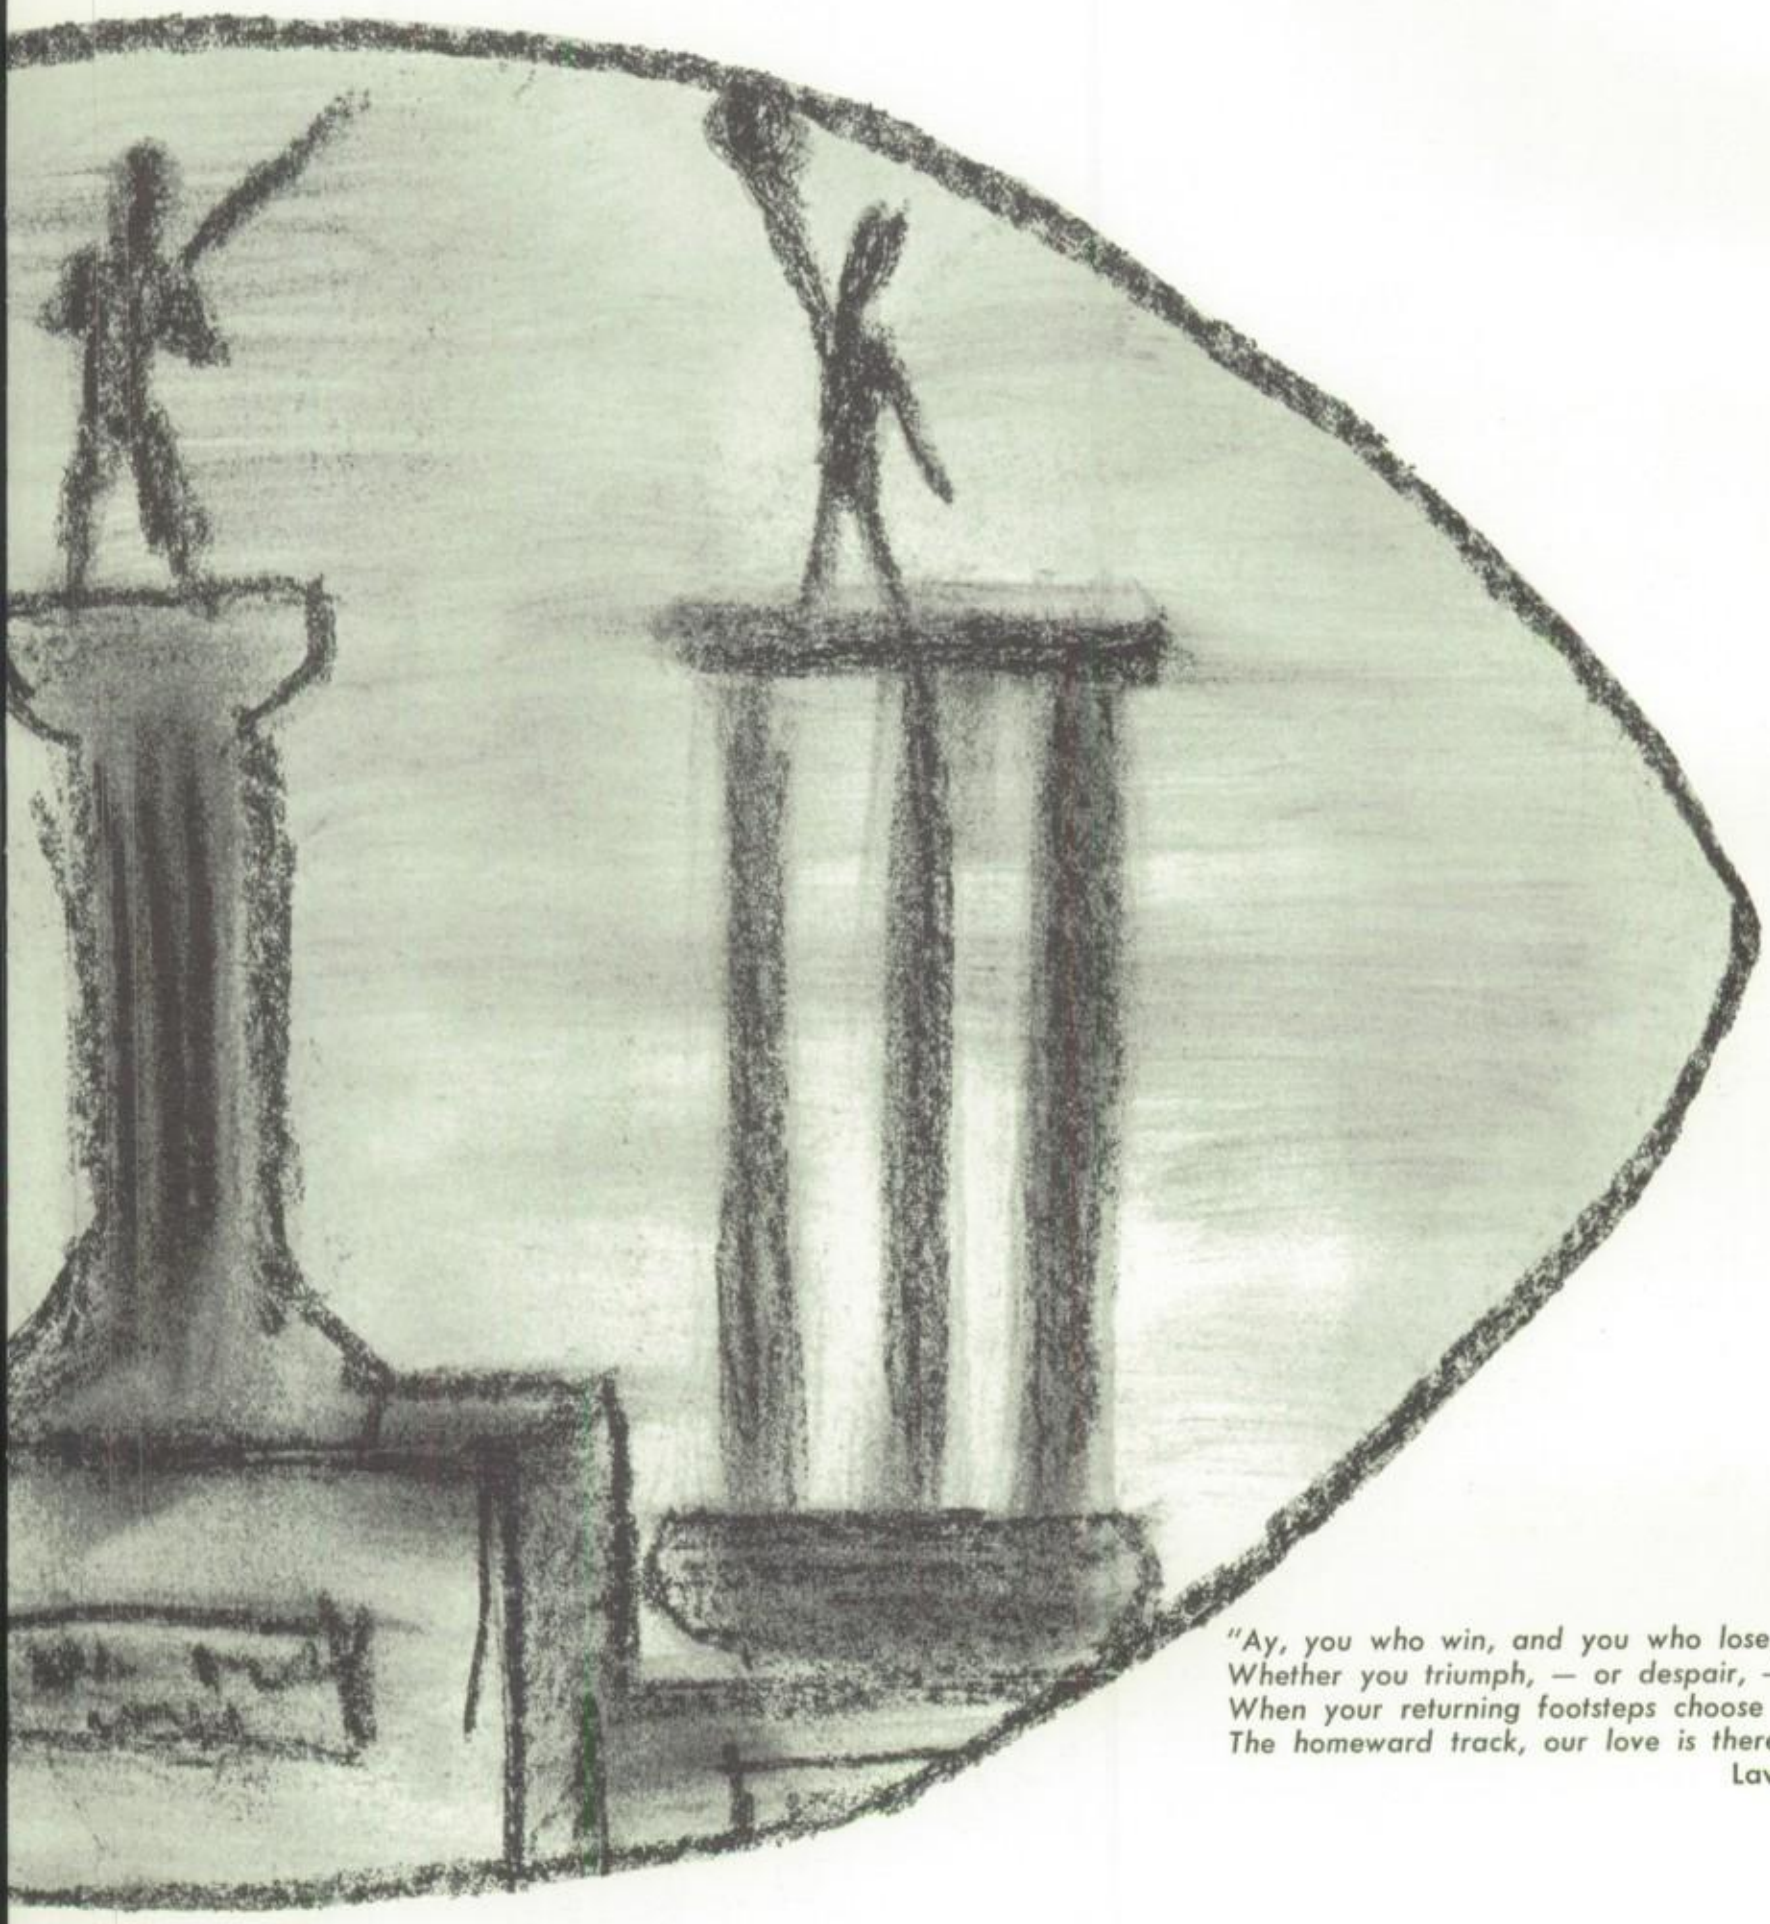
Sports



"Ay, you who win, and you who lose,
Whether you triumph, — or despair, —
When your returning footsteps choose
The homeward track, our love is there."
Lawrence Hope

The mind must have a sound body in which to live. Through sports we have not only conditioned our bodies but also our minds. Athletics has instilled in us a vigorous spirit of competition based on the principle of fair play. We have learned to accept defeat as well as victory; the bitter with the sweet.

It's All in the State of Mind

If you think you are beaten, you are;
If you think you dare not, you won't,
If you like to win and don't think you can,
It's almost a cinch you won't.

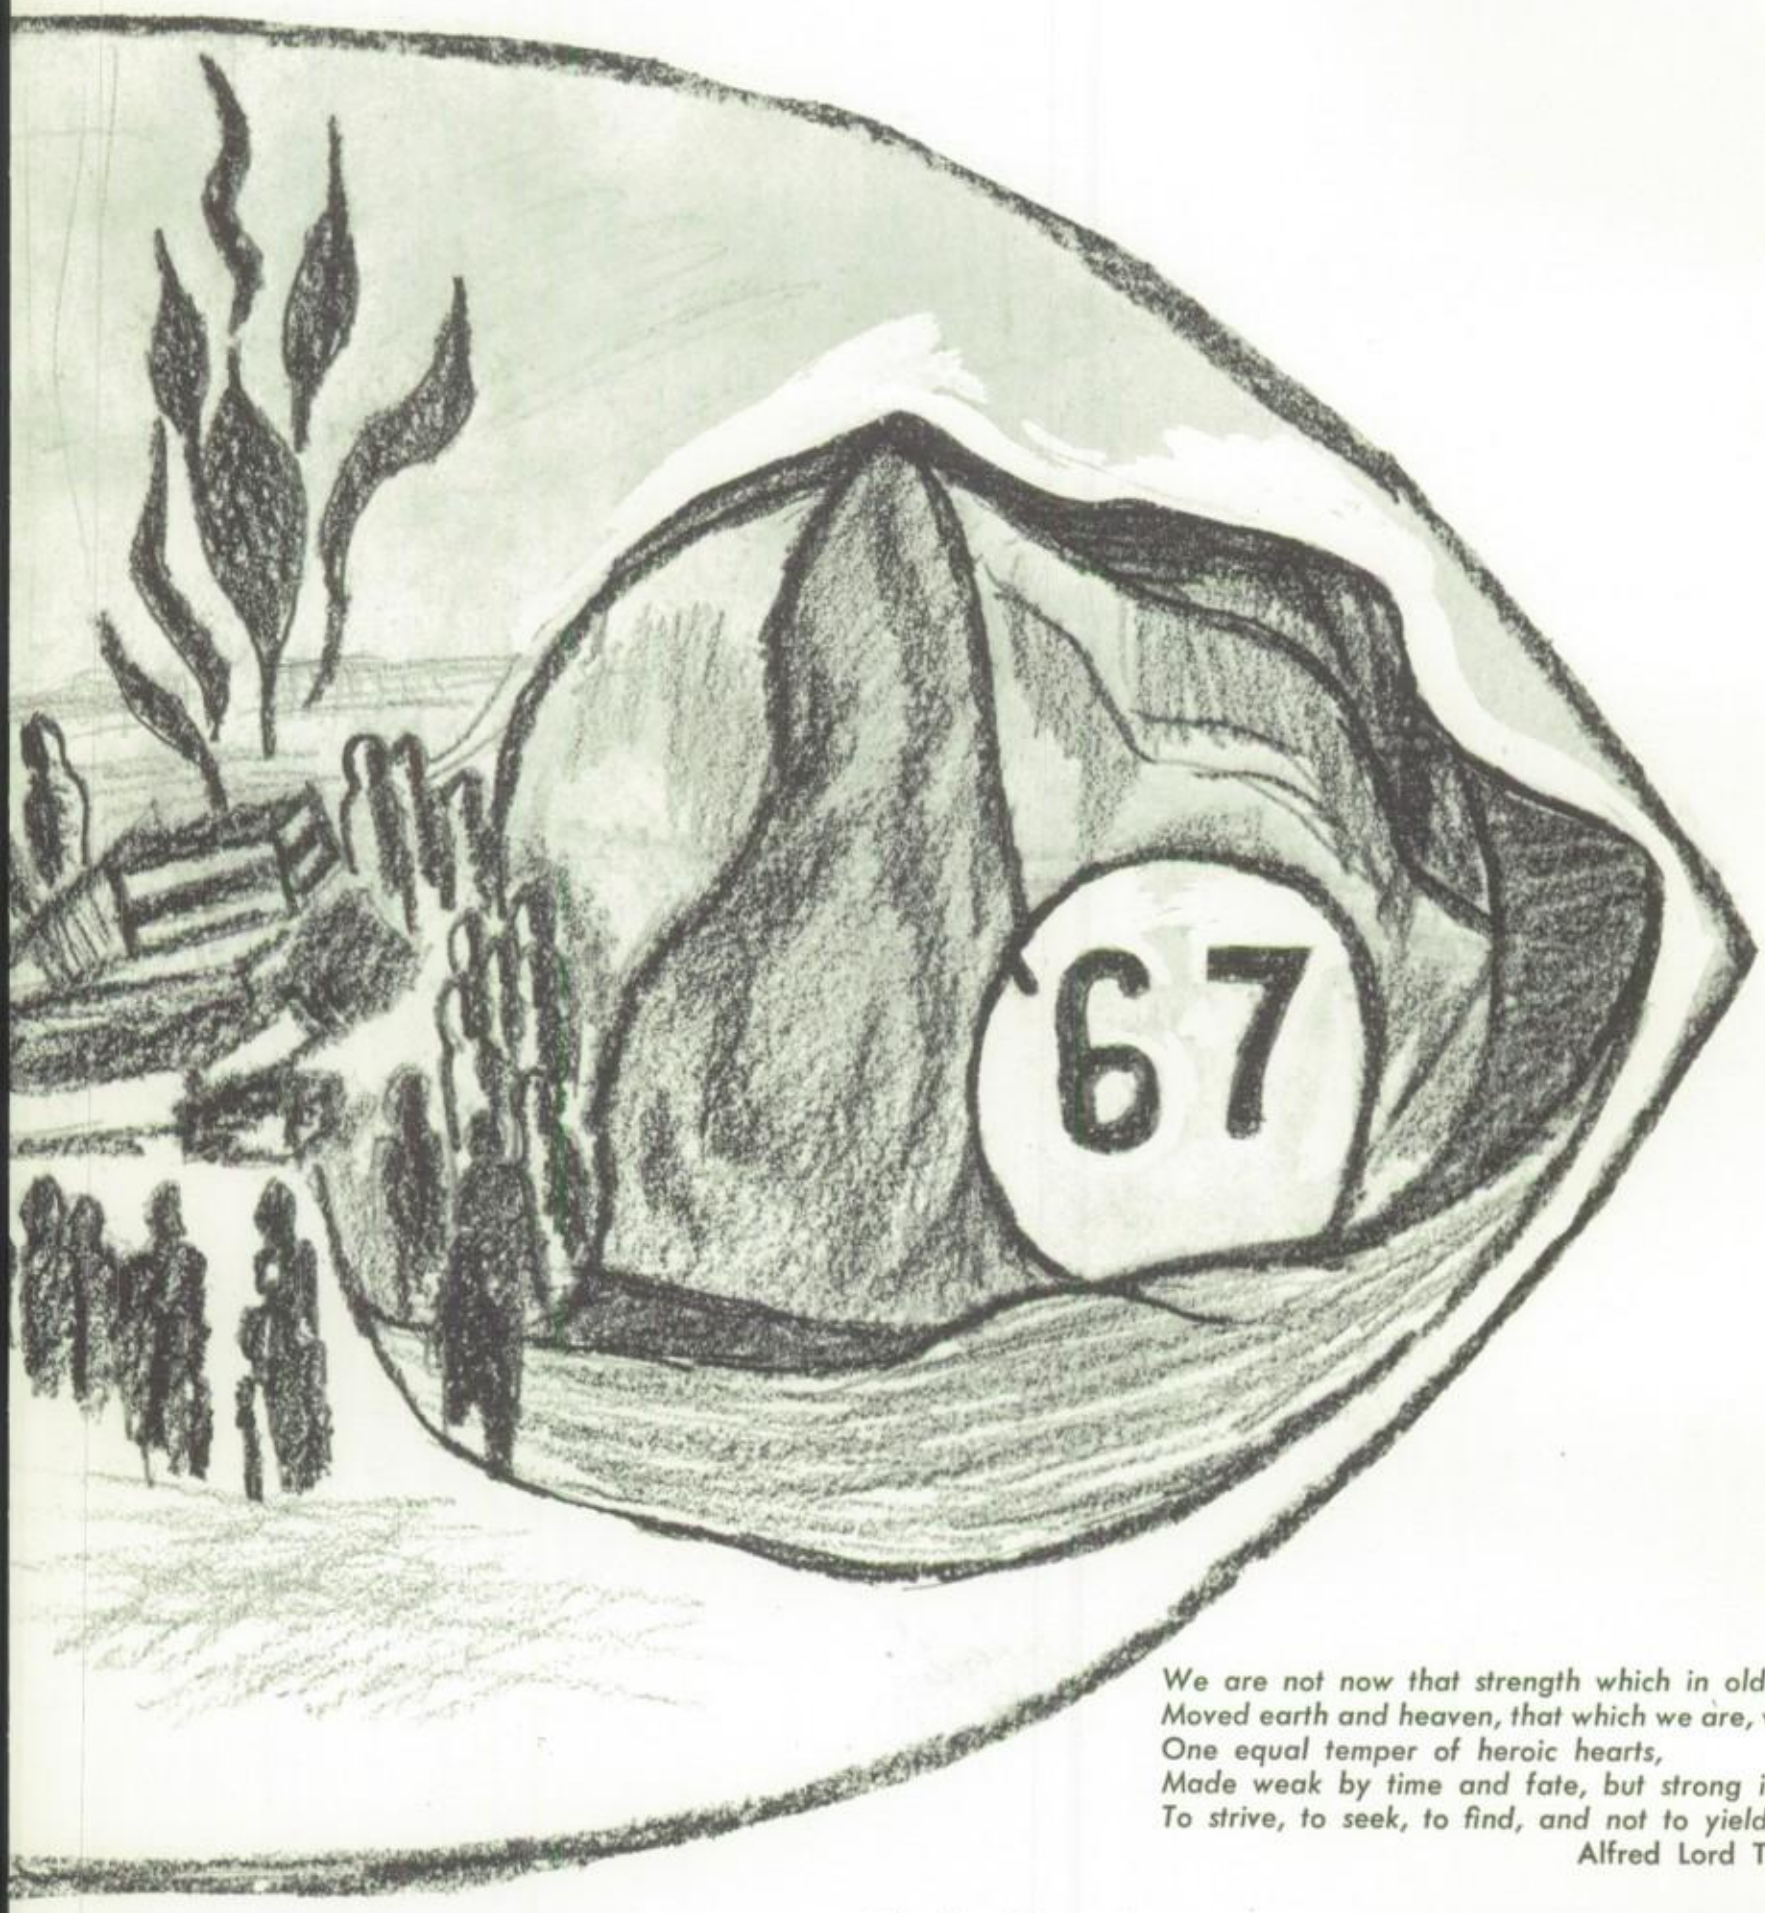
If you think you'll lose, you're lost;
For out in the world you'll find,
Success begins with a fellow's will;
It's all in the state of mind.

Full many a race is lost
Ere even a step is run,
And many a coward fails
Ere even his work is begun.

Think big and your deeds will grow,
Think small and you'll fall behind;
Think that you can and you will,
It's all in the state of mind.

If you think you're out classed, you are;
You've got to think high to rise.
You've got to be sure of yourself before
You ever can win a prize.
Life's battles don't always go
To the stronger or faster man;
But, sooner or later the man who wins
Is the fellow who thinks he can.

Read by guest speaker Mr. Ben Carnevale, Head Basketball Coach, U. S. Naval Academy, at the Spring Activities Dinner, May 21, 1960.



We are not now that strength which in old days
Moved earth and heaven, that which we are, we are—
One equal temper of heroic hearts,
Made weak by time and fate, but strong in will
To strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield.

Alfred Lord Tennyson

The final hour has at last arrived. Happily, yet sadly, we accept it, but before we leave these halls forever, we must pause a moment to reflect on these last four years. What once was, can never be done again but we can relive each moment of joy, of pride, and, of pain as the history of the Class of 1967 lives forever on these pages . . .

Class History

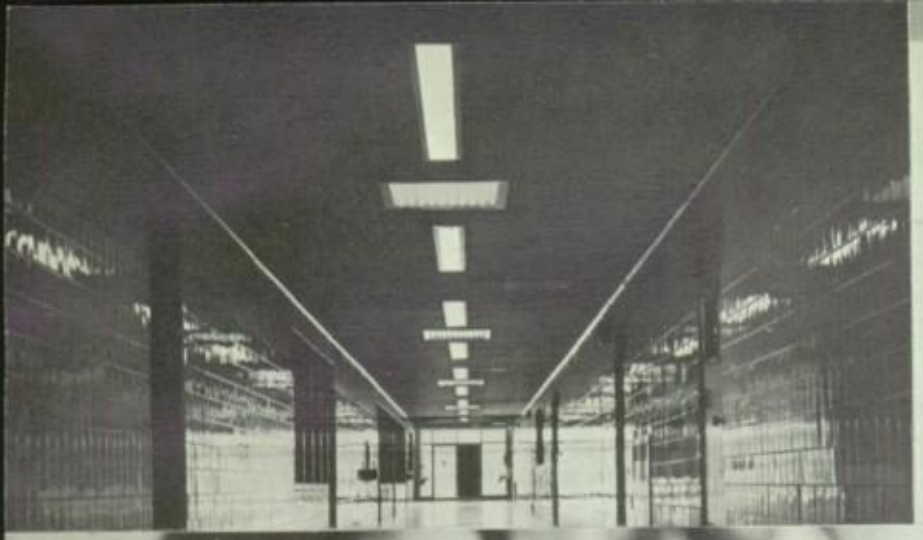
Four years constitute an inevitable transition;
Yet Class of '67, have we accomplished our mission?
Each day we awoke to an exciting new dawn,
And from these days memories are drawn.

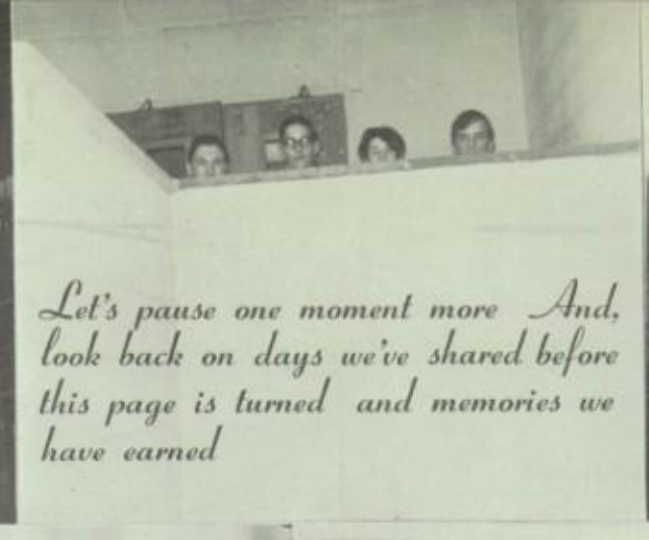
• • • •

Entering freshmen? We've been here before —
Yet we were tinally in high school, we've passed through the door.
Bewildered were we as we moved on to class,
Looking for just one familiar face in the mass.
The frolicking frosh each went his way,
Gaining new friends, with every new day.
We held our elections, they counted the tallies,
"Down with the Freshmen!" was jeered at pep rallies.
The Seniors awed us in their grandeur and might,
The Juniors too, inspired some fright.
The Sophomores we knew from a previous year,
Yet we possessed a self-nurtured fear.
And finally we became a force at E.P. high,
Never stopping to realize how time does fly.
Determining the goals for which we would vie,
Determining our values and all we would try.
During the summer we paused to reflect
Upon last year and next year, what to expect?
Then came to September our sign read Sophomore,
Which we wore proudly as they reopened the door.
Boldly we walked with our new found assurance,
The previous year had endorsed our endurance.
We had prepared ourselves to persevere
Through another hectic, yet memorable year.
Our athletes began to appear on the fields,
Boldly displaying the Crusader shields.
In academics and athletics our class did excel,
Would we make it? — Only time would tell.
The Sophomore Hop — "Smokey Places." —
Held to serve as a basis
Of things we'd do and plans we'd make,
Of the heights we'd climb and the cakes we'd bake.
So ended another year of school,
The sophomore left as a wise young fool.
September once again unfurled its flag,
So step aside world, 'tis our turn to brag.
Junior year at last was here.
Reminiscing — these memories are held so dear.
Upperclassmen spearheading Memorial's crusade,
Symbolic of a quest yet to be made.
As athletes and scholars we were renowned,
Our fervent enthusiasm met with no bound.
A new era commenced, receiving our ring.
A rare class unity that forever will sing
Triumphantly, the virtues of loyalty, pride, spirit,
And sing them forever, and forever we'll hear it.
"African Enchantment" — an entire episode
In our class history, showed
We had arrived, mature and ready
To walk forth, our heads aloft and steady.
The summer passed, then at last —
Throw open that door! Get out of our way!
The Seniors are here, proclaiming their day!
The beanies, the ballgames, the banquet, the rest,
Realized our dreams, we are ending our quest.
The Senior Ball, "The Shadow of Your Smile" —
And the time had come to begin our last mile.
We crossed the border, away to Montreal,
Expo '67 — yes, we really had a ball.
Though in our festivity, it wasn't only levity,
The transition had arrived, instilling a drive
To challenge the future, cherishing the past.

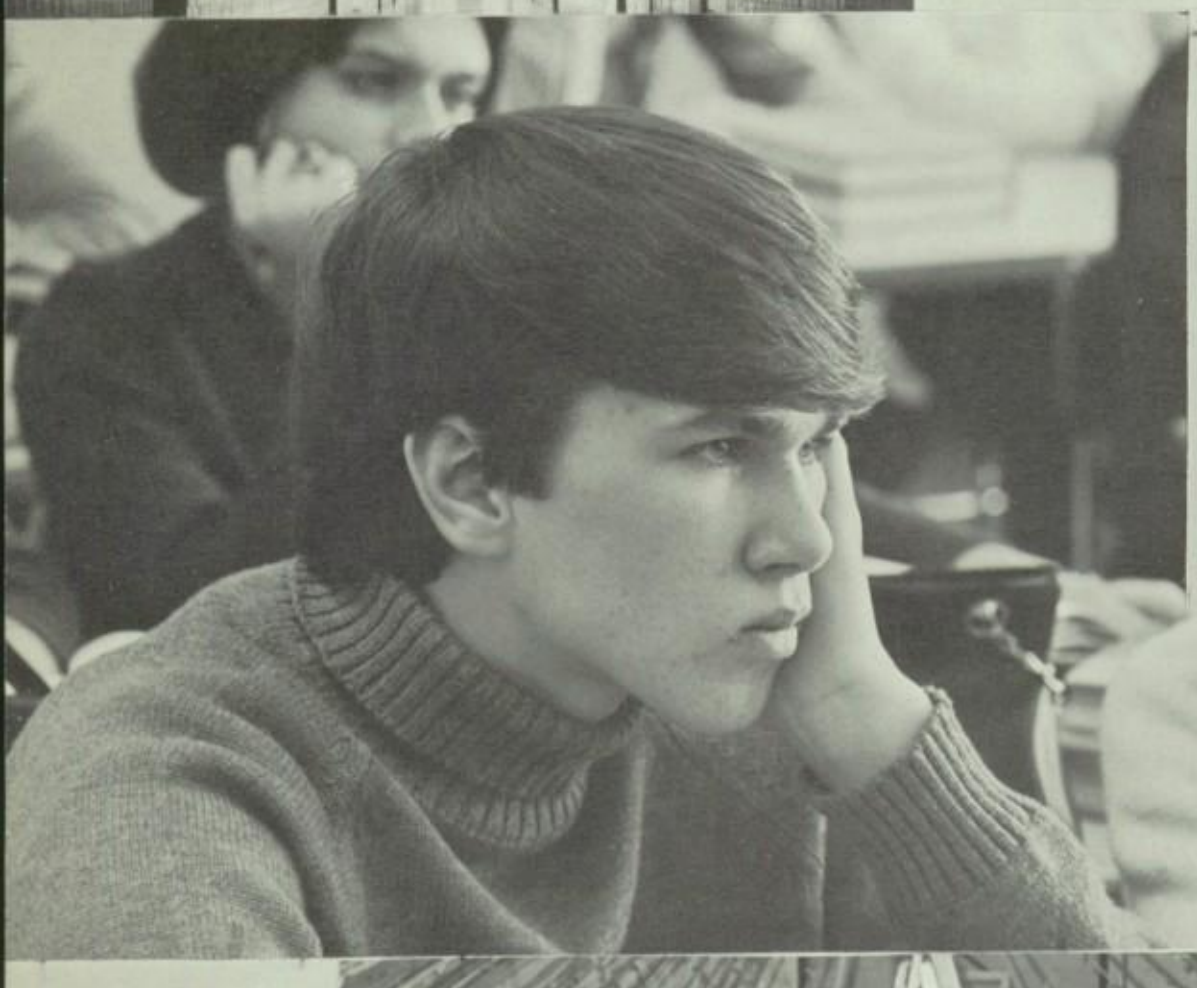
• • • •

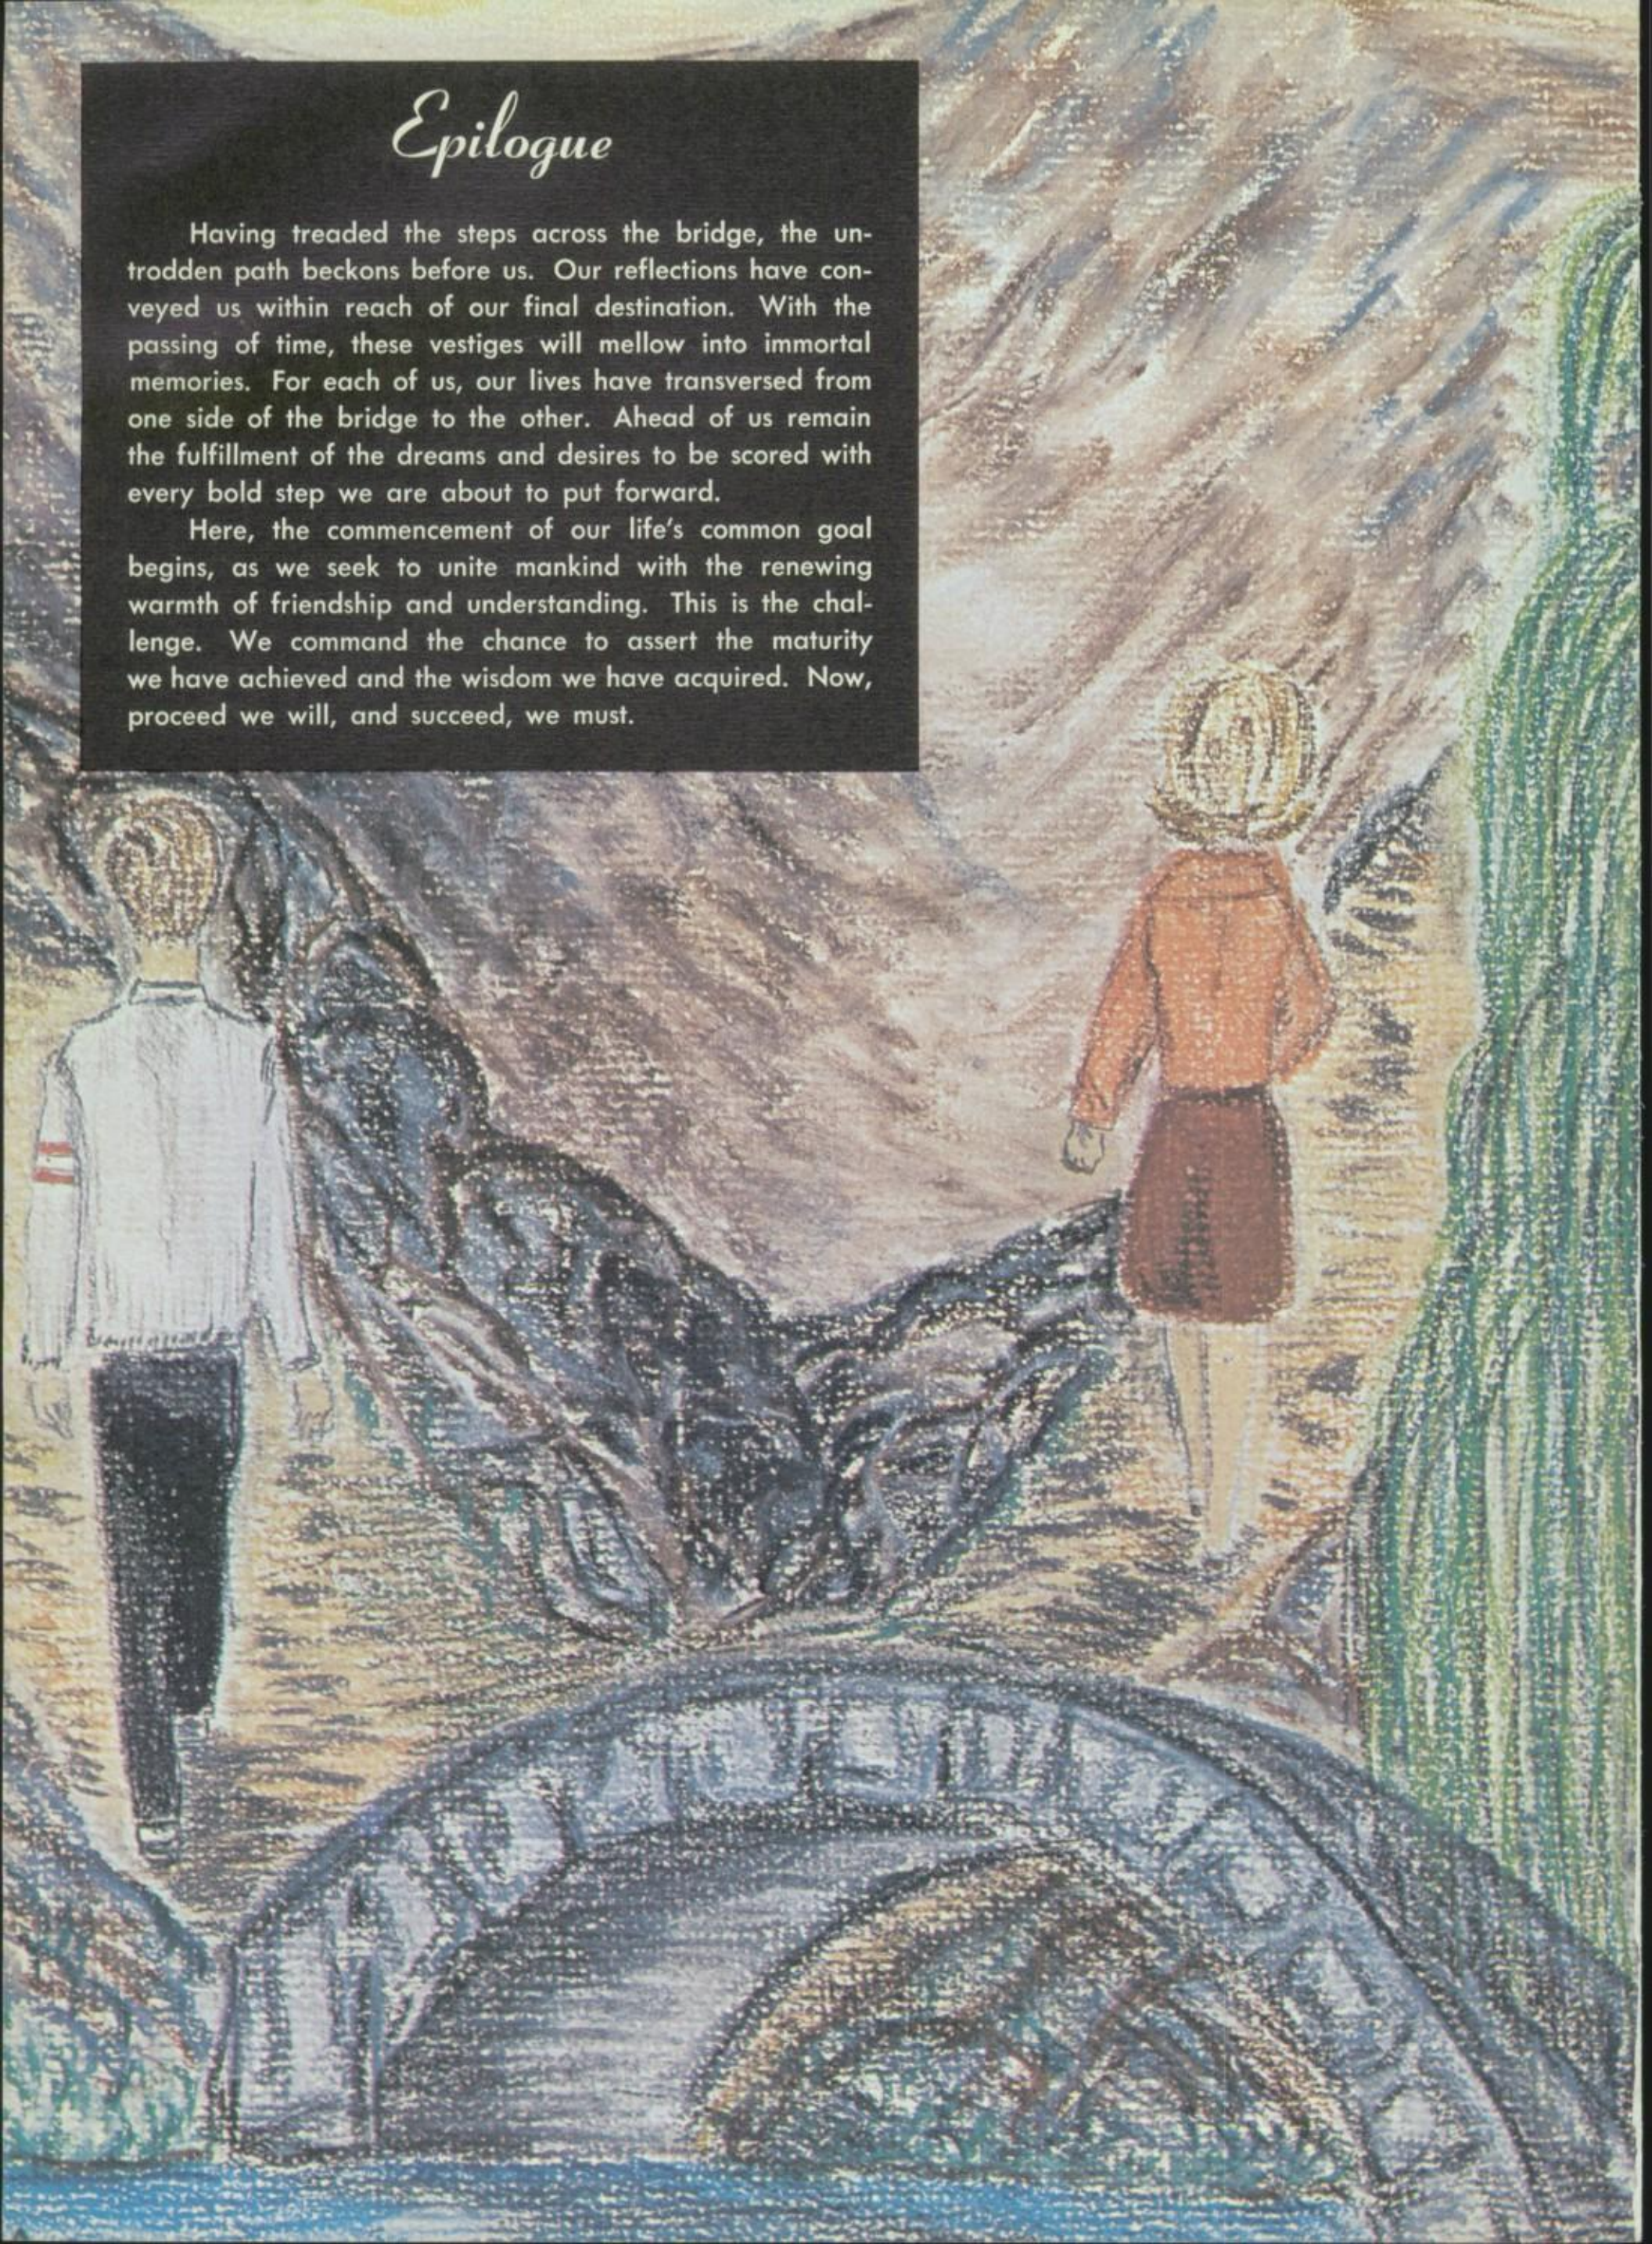
And from these four years we did derive . . .
A privilege and responsibility
That came with going to our "E.P."
And forever we'll remember, the Scarlet and the White,
As our lives progress from present day, to eternal night.





Let's pause one moment more And, look back on days we've shared before this page is turned and memories we have earned





Epilogue

Having treaded the steps across the bridge, the untrodden path beckons before us. Our reflections have conveyed us within reach of our final destination. With the passing of time, these vestiges will mellow into immortal memories. For each of us, our lives have transversed from one side of the bridge to the other. Ahead of us remain the fulfillment of the dreams and desires to be scored with every bold step we are about to put forward.

Here, the commencement of our life's common goal begins, as we seek to unite mankind with the renewing warmth of friendship and understanding. This is the challenge. We command the chance to assert the maturity we have achieved and the wisdom we have acquired. Now, proceed we will, and succeed, we must.
